Is it time to write Solange off yet? And when do you say: "that's it, nor more"?

It's always been too late to help my grandmother.

When she broke a hip, unless I could cover her 10 urgent needs at the same time, any intervention became absolutely futile.

So, I deliberately let her die sleeping on the floor, crawling around & in a room badly needing repairs.

Time is also running out for my father!

So, unlike "Aid Planners" who think they can save everyone, when do you decide to write someone dear off? Despite the Swiss Missionary generous support and now the Doctor wage, I had to label some members of my family as unsalvageable and concentrated limited income on those who "have time" i.e. the young! How about Solange: as she has had so many setbacks, is she "salvageable or unsalvageable"? Considering her background, she is doing exceedingly well. If you saw her VIDEO you would wonder just how she keeps going..!
